Donahay Demands Herrick Resign

COLUMBUS, O., April 9.—(By the Associated Press)—Director of Highways Leon C. Herrick today had before him the demand of Governor Donahay that he resign and the governor's instructions that no further steps looking towards the letting of contracts for road construction be taken until further notice.

What Herrick's response would be to the governor's demand was not known. Late last night he had received the letter in which the request was conveyed and said that he would make no decision until he had time to consider the matter.

The formal request for Herrick's resignation culminated a series of differences of opinion between the governor and the highway director, a publican holdover from the administration of Governor Davis, over various road contracts prepared by Herrick and disapproved in practically every case by Director of Finance Baker on the grounds that high priced materials were specified when cheaper construction would suffice.

The situation has resulted in delay in the letting of contracts for spring work and it was regarded as likely that Herrick refused to resign and the governor maintained his position as to the advisability of going ahead with more contracts, that the state highway program would be delayed. Herrick, who with his position as director of highways, also holds the title of director of public works, a constitutional office, will remain in his present position until July 1, unless he resigns.

The governor asked that the resignation become effective not later than April 15.

Seance Mystery Explained

NEW YORK, April 9.—(By the Associated Press)—The rapping at a seance, the lifting of a table and moving of furniture, all are done by invisible means of the "ectoplasmic rod," Sir Arthur Conan Doyle explained to an audience in Carnegie Hall last night. The rod, extending upward, tall and slender, was shown from the top of a table in a spirit photograph.

The intelligence controlling the action of the ectoplasmic rod is still a mystery, and whether it was the medium's intelligence or some outside, unseen force, he could not explain, he said.

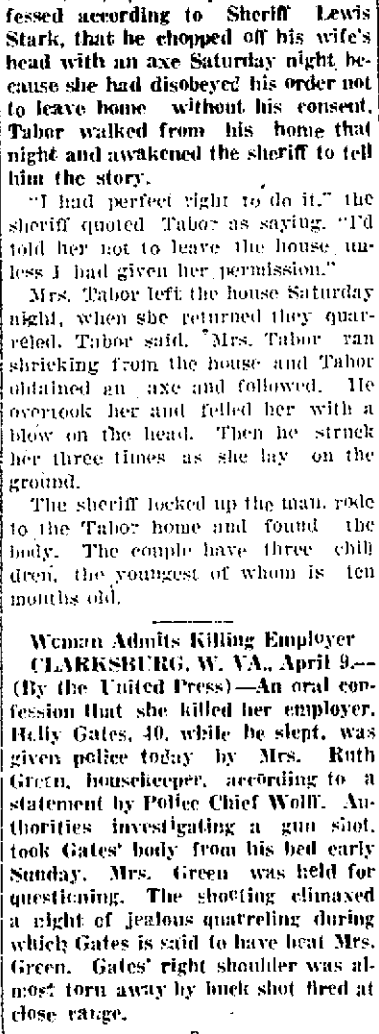

"I am inclined to think it is an unseen force that we know nothing of," he added, "but which is the animating power of the ectoplasmic phenomenon."

Last Photograph Of Sarah Bernhardt

Probe Death Of Convict

MADISON, FLA., April 9.—(By the Associated Press)—Postponement until next Wednesday of grand jury investigation into the death of Martin Tabert, of Munich, N. D., alleged to have died early in 1921, as a result of brutal treatment received in a Dixie county private convict camp, was announced last night by J. R. Kelly, state's attorney. The grand jurors originally were to convene today.

Convicted of riding a freight train, Tabert was sentenced to thirty days in Leon county, and then leased to the public Florida Lumber Company. A charge of murder has been placed against Walter Higginbotham, convict boss, now held in a Dixie county jail.

Fifteen witnesses including fellow-workers of Tabert's, have been subpoenaed to appear before the jurors. Judge W. Kenesaw, of Langdon, N. D., and State's Attorney Grimeson, have come here to aid the county officials.

Tabert's death was the incentive behind a number of bills introduced in the Florida legislature looking toward abolishment of the convict leasing system.

Harding, Rested, Back At His Desk

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(By the Associated Press)—President Harding was back at his desk today, inaugurated by his five weeks' vacation in the south, and ready to shoulder again the accumulation of official business. He and Mrs. Harding arrived in Washington yesterday from Augusta, Ga., where they spent the last week. Mrs. Harding's improvement in health was further shown by the fact that she walked through the station to the automobile at the automobile entrance, whereas on leaving here she was driven directly to the private car in the railroad yards.

The president is taking up the important matters now before him with the intention of disposing of as many of them as possible in the next two months in order to clear the way for the proposed western trip.

The middle of June now is set as the tentative time for the beginning of the trip, but the president has not yet definitely settled whether he will carry out the proposed tour to the Pacific coast with a possible extension to Alaska.

While Mrs. Harding has greatly benefited by her five weeks in the south, the president is deferring a decision on the western trip until he feels assured of the advisability of her undertaking such an extended journey as the one contemplated.

In addition to various angles of the political situation that are to receive the president's attention in the next few weeks, the immediate questions pending are the sugar price situation and plans for disposition of the government's merchant fleet. A preliminary report from the tariff commission on the sugar question is looked for within the next week or two while time required for the preparation of data to be submitted to the president on the merchant marine problem may defer action on that for several weeks.

Dirigible On Flight

FORT BENJAMIN HARRISON, April 9.—The TC-1 started on the last leg of its trip to Scott Field, Belleville, Ill., at 12 noon. It circled low over Indianapolis and headed due west for its destination.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., April 9.—(By the Associated Press)—The TC-1, the United States army's largest non-rigid dirigible, landed at the Fort Harrison aviation field at 2:25 today, completing the first leg of its journey from Wingfoot Lake Station, Akron, Ohio, to Scott Field, Belleville, Ills.

Princess Yolanda, Eldest Daughter Of The King And Queen Of Italy, Marries War Hero

ROME, April 9.—(By the Associated Press)—Princess Yolanda, eldest daughter of King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena, was married today to Count Calvi di Bergolo, a captain of cavalry, who holds a decoration for bravery in the World War.

The civil ceremony which took place at 10:30 o'clock in the grand hall of the Quirinal Palace, was followed immediately by the celebration of the religious rites in the Pauline Chapel, also within the quirinal. Because of the recent death of the princess' maternal grandmother, Queen Milena, of Montenegro, the services were conducted as simply as possible. The grand hall is the chamber wherein, under the popes, the conclaves of cardinals met for the choice of the rulers of the church. More recently, President Wilson and other famous personages of contemporary history have been entertained there. It presented a brilliant spectacle today, gay with spring flowers and animated by the colorful uniforms of the 700 high state and municipal dignitaries who were privileged to attend the ceremony.

The king and queen occupied the center of the mammoth salon with the bride and bridegroom at the right and the Dowager Queen Margherita at the left. Premier Mussolini, acting as the crown pontiff, came next, while Senator Tittoni, president of the senate, filled the role of civil officer of the crown.

Princess Yolanda wore the traditional white gown, with train of rare old lace. The flowers in her bouquet were grown in the gardens of the quirinal palace.

Count di Bergolo was dressed in the uniform of a cavalry officer. On his breast were the medals he gained in the war.

Senator Tittoni opened the ceremony by reading the articles of the Italian civil code that relate to marriage. He then addressed to the bride and bridegroom the questions required by the ritual, after which the senate secretary read the act of marriage. This was signed first by the bridegroom, then by the king and queen and lastly by Count di Bergolo's close relatives.

When the signatures were affixed the sovereigns arose and were the first to congratulate their daughter and son-in-law.

The religious marriage was solemnized by Monsignor Desacchini, the court chaplain.

Most of Princess Yolanda's trousseau was collected long before her engagement was announced. Following the custom of the old Italian families and the traditions of the house of Savoy, she has had made 24 duplicates of each garment, all in the finest hand work and most exquisitely trimmed. Much of the embroidery was done in convents and is so delicately worked that every one who has seen it says the workers who have carried out such a task, must have lost their eyesight.

Hailstones Start Panic

THIBODEAUX, LA., April 9.—(By the Associated Press)—Several persons were injured during a panic in a motion picture theater, caused by a heavy hail storm yesterday. At the first sound of the hail storm on the roof, scores of persons, believing the building was falling, made a rush for the doors. Those injured were caught in the jam, but none was thought to have been seriously hurt.

After reaching the street, more than a score were said to have been stunned by the large hail stones.

Coolidge Is Not Anxious To Run

WASHINGTON, April 9.—President Harding himself will have to decide who his running mate shall be as vice president. The announcement by Mr. Coolidge that he believed Mr. Harding should be re-nominated but making no mention of his own plans is construed here as a modest disavowal on the part of the vice president himself to make a bid for the place.

For sometime it has been whispered about that Mr. Coolidge did not care to be vice president a second time and that he thought he could be of more use in the public service by taking an executive part in the debates of the senate instead of presiding silently over the body. At the next election, Senator David Walsh, Democrat of Massachusetts, comes up for reelection and friends of Mr. Coolidge believe he would make an ideal candidate to run against Mr. Walsh.

But even a decision to enter the lists in Massachusetts would not be (Continued On Page Two)

Bomb Destroys Lock In Dortmund--Ems Canal

ESSEN, April 9.—(By the Associated Press)—The explosion of a time bomb destroyed the lock of the Dortmund-Ems canal near Herne early today. The canal was blocked, seriously interfering with the complicated inland waterway traffic in the Ruhr.

This is the most serious case of sabotage yet reported on the Ruhr waterways. The lock that was destroyed is near the junction of the Dortmund-Ems canal with the main canal that runs down to the Rhine at Duisburg and Ruhrort, where the largest inland port in the world is located.

The intention of the dynamiters apparently was not only to block the canal, but to drain the water from the main Rhine-Ems canal which is the main waterway artery of the Ruhr. The French say this main canal has not been interfered with, as the locks on both sides of the one which was dynamited were closed immediately after the explosion to prevent the draining of the main canal. The Dortmund-Ems canal itself an important waterway, is blocked by the destruction of the lock. Guards have been placed at all junctions and locks as a measure for prevention of further damage.

The circumstances of the explosion indicated that the bomb had been placed with great care under difficult circumstances. It blew out the gate and tore a large hole in the side of the canal.

Organize To Combat Fascisti In America

NEW YORK, April 9.—(By the Associated Press)—An alliance to combat the recently announced organization of the fascisti of this country will be perfected at a meeting tomorrow night, it was announced today by officers of the Italian chamber of labor. Several labor union leaders were declared to be interested in the new body, to be known as the Anti-Fascisti Alliance.

The alliances announced are to be the "extinction of all fascist organizations on the continent of North America, creation of popular sentiment opposed to the fascist regime in Italy and relief of radical organizations which have been destroyed or harmed by the fascisti."

District headquarters are to be maintained in various cities. It also was announced that the new organization would sharply scrutinize all Italian immigrants to ferret out fascist agitators.

The Italian chamber of labor last night issued a manifesto attacking Premier Mussolini, concluding with the advice to workers that "in case you are attacked defend like men your right to live."

"The purpose of the American fascisti," the statement continued, "is but to weaken and destroy the labor movement, to link up with the Ku Klux Klan, to aid the newly created templated open shop drive and to act as the strike breakers and gunmen of reactionary American employers as they have acted in Mexico, Italy and Bavaria."

New Dance Record

NEW YORK, April 9.—(By the Associated Press)—Having danced continuously for 40 hours and 35 minutes, thereby breaking all endurance records, Miss Alma Cummings, of San Antonio, Texas, was still going strong at 11:15 today with the announced intention of keeping on until she established a record of 50 hours. So far Miss Cummings has worn out six male dancing partners. She has taken out a total of four minutes since she started Saturday night. Tomato, vegetable and other soups are being fed at intervals, the management stated, as she is a vegetarian.

Mrs. Cummings' recent record of twenty-seven hours of continuous dancing was bettered nine hours Saturday by Miss Ruth Mellock and Jack Butler. She started at 7:10 p. m. Saturday, with the intention of setting a 44-hour mark, but subsequently decided to try for a fifty-hour record by dancing until 9:10 o'clock tonight.

French See Possibility Of Agreement With England

PARIS, April 9.—(By the Associated Press)—Louis Loucheur's paper, the Petit Journal, quotes him as saying that his recent trip to England convinced him of the possibility of an agreement with Great Britain which will not sacrifice in the least the legitimate interests of France and her allies concerning reparations and security. M. Loucheur says he expected Premier Poincare that he expected to talk with certain members of the British government.

Every one whom he saw in Great Britain, M. Loucheur says, appeared to understand that France and Belgium are determined to "carry on" in the Ruhr venture. He expresses a hope that he has succeeded in dispelling "certain suspicions" which existed in Great Britain concerning the aims of France and its government.

Evidently that the Ruhr allies hope to find M. Loucheur's "vacation" of some practical value is seen in a semi-official statement which says the former minister may be asked to explain to Premier Poincare and Foreign Minister Jaspard, of Belgium, the impressions which he gathered in England in the course of his conversations with British statesmen.

Ten-Minute Newspaper

NEW YORK, April 9.—(By the Associated Press)—The New York Herald announces today that commencing tomorrow, it will issue a miniature newspaper for the busy man which can be read in ten minutes in addition to the regular edition. Frank A. Munsey, the publisher, in making the announcement, says:

"The average man has not more than twenty minutes for his morning newspaper. The truth is that the average man with so little time for his morning newspaper, does not get far with the news of the day. Twenty minutes cannot do the work of twenty hours and there is well nigh twenty hours of reading in a copy of the New York Herald. It may be that this miniature paper will prove to be a very great contribution to newspaper making. I am of the opinion that the only way to know what it will mean to the reading public, is to try it out. This miniature newspaper is not meant for the man who has hours for his newspaper. It is meant for the busy American who wants to know what is happening in the world, but who with only twenty minutes for his morning newspaper cannot know if it means reading through a big metropolitan newspaper to get the news. It is a move in the direction of simplification—is an enormous time saver."

Tax Collections Show Gain

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(By the Associated Press)—A $700,000,000 increase in the March collections of income and profits taxes as compared with the March collections of last year, on which the higher income surtax rates applied, gives a practical answer to the tax problem and shows clearly what course further revision should take. Secretary Mellon declared in a statement last night.

"Forecasting possible efforts by the treasury to have congress further cut the surtax rates on incomes he asserted that the March collections of $700,000,000 had fully justified his prediction that downward revision could have the effect of increasing rather than decreasing the federal revenue. He viewed the increase in collections as proof that the downward revision had acted as a stimulant to business."

Coolidge

made by Mr. Coolidge without consulting President Harding who after all is party leader and has a great deal to say about the man who accompanies him on the national ticket. If, however, Mr. Coolidge should finally enter the senatorial contest in his home state, the chances are the matter of a vice presidential candidate will be viewed in the light of vote-getting possibilities. Unquestionably an effort would be made to persuade Mr. Harding to throw the weight of his influence in favor of a "progressive" for vice president so that the ticket would be attractive to those of the "progressive" school of thought.

The possibilities along that line are former Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas. Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Theodore Roosevelt. Mr. Allen's record in Kansas with the industrial relations court commends him to the leaders of the Republican party, many of whom helped to choose Mr. Coolidge originally because of a similar aggressiveness in handling labor disputes in Massachusetts. In fact, it was well understood by some Eastern leaders that Henry Allen would be chosen vice president in the 1920 convention, in fact in the excitement of the closing hours the Kansas delegation swung to Harding, believing the Kansas governor would be named when something went wrong and a stamped in the direction of the Massachusetts governor followed. Mr. Allen's public speech made such a profound impression on business men and bankers that were it not for the fact that Mr. Harding is a candidate to succeed himself, the Kansas leader would be a certain factor in the presidential contest itself.

Next to former Governor Allen, the name of Gifford Pinchot, who is making such a spectacular record of governor of Pennsylvania should have a significance entirely apart from his original affiliations with the Rooseveltian era in American politics. He is making such a vigorous fight for the enforcement of the prohibition amendment that Gifford Pinchot's presence on the national ticket would throw the "dry" support toward Mr. Harding without doubt and would so far as the Republican ticket is concerned remove all doubts as to the "wet" and "dry" question enabling the Democratic candidates to take the other side of the controversy if they choose as the Republican convention undoubtedly will have met and selected nominees before the Democrats convene in 1924.

Friends of Theodore Roosevelt, the youthful but efficient assistant secretary of the navy, think the same star of destiny which led his distinguished father from the office of secretary of the Navy to the vice presidency may shine again for the son. They are arguing that the best way to insure "progressive" support is to put a Roosevelt on the ticket and the West will respond. It is interesting to note that while Pinchot and young Roosevelt are Easterners their main strength is in the West. So is Governor Allen's strength in the West with a measure of substantial support in the East besides. In the battle for Western states—where unquestionably the campaign will be fought—some one identified with the farm "bloc" may rise up to contend for the vice presidential nomination. Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas is another name to conjure with when Western support is considered.

Mr. Coolidge's possible withdrawal will open up the race for the presidency for awhile, but as usual the influence of the head of the ticket will decide the victor for the Harding delegates will be in control of the convention, and their leader will have a natural interest in seeing the strongest possible candidate chosen.

BOY SCOUTS TO HAVE SUMMER CAMP

Work is progressing nicely on the summer camp for the Boy Scouts. The site has been leased and all together there is about six acres in the piece of land which will be used. A strip has been secured recently which lies just back of the tents which will be used for an athletic field. This makes the camp all close together and very near the water. The swimming hole is about one hundred yards long and about fifty yards wide and running water. The tents will be placed on the bank of the creek and back about fifty feet from the edge.

In the near future a contest will be put on to decide the name of the camp. Judges will be chosen and every Scout will be allowed to suggest a name. When the judges decide which is the best from the list submitted to them, the Scout who submits the name will be given two weeks free at camp.

Seventeen Scouts under the leadership of Scout Executive Henderson, spent the day yesterday at the site and much time was spent in clearing the space where the tents will stand. Three troops were represented and the return trip was made about five o'clock. One tent has been set up and the Scouts who have already been to camp have been using it. Next Friday after school another trip will be taken. The party will spend the night and the following day. All

Dear Dolly—I would like to know the full name of President Harding and also Governor Donahue.

DAILY READER.
Warren Gaudin Harding and A. Victor Donahue. I think his first name is Andrew, but I'm not sure about it. Inquire at the high school about books you will have to study for the course mentioned.

Dear Dolly—I please tell if there is any price on ovals that destroy game, and also give me the sneeze signs.

DAILY READER.
I don't know what anyone would want with a dead owl, unless it would be to mount it. Anyway, they are nothing to sneeze at, but here's your sign: Sneeze on Monday, sneeze for danger; sneeze on Tuesday, kiss a stranger (watch your step on Tuesday); sneeze on Wednesday, get a letter; sneeze on Thursday, something better; sneeze on Friday, expect sorrow; sneeze on Saturday, a gay tomorrow; sneeze on Sunday, surprise on Monday. Pretty time signs, aren't they?

Dear Dolly—What do you think of a woman who is always quarreling with children? Even if they are not on her side, she fusses with them anyway, and wants to make them go home. She claims she is not afraid of the whole neighborhood. Now Dolly, what do you think of a woman like this? DISGUSTED NEIGHBOR.

I think she is "cuckoo" or something. The best way to get along with a woman like that is not to pay any attention to her. She is probably one of those nervous lady-bodies who doesn't know what she is doing half the time. Just be thankful that you are not like her, and let it go at that.

Dear Dolly—Please tell me how to steam one's face. I mean to give it a thorough cleansing and get all the dirt out of it.

DAILY READER.
Have a bowl of water as hot as you can stand it and apply it to your face with a wash cloth or towel. When the face is quite red you can tell that it is thoroughly steamed.

The Fairy Queen Was Reading a Letter

Nancy and Nick went straight to the Fairy Queen's palace on Sugar Plum Land.

"Is that all?" they asked. "Is there anything more we can do?" The Fairy Queen was reading a letter when they came in, and now she touched it with her hand.

"Here is more bad news, my dears," she said. "It seems that as soon as you get one of my nine hundred and ninety-nine kingdoms into order, another one has to cut up capers. I'm ever so upset."

"Which one is it now?" asked Nick. "And what has happened?" "It's Bug-Bang Land," answered the Fairy Queen. "There's war in Bug-Bang Land between the wood-nymphs and the tin soldiers, and if it doesn't stop, I'm afraid they'll kill each other all off and there won't be any left for Christmas."

"Oh, Jimmy," cried Nick, "that would be dreadful!" "Yes, wouldn't it?" nodded the queen. "Bug-Bang Land is the place all the toy soldiers stay until Christmas time because there wouldn't be room for them anywhere else. Besides there are pistols, pommies, toy cannon, fire-crackers and torpedoes ready for the Fourth of July, so you see the soldiers have plenty of things to fight with. Do you and Nancy think you could do anything?" "We can try," declared Nick bravely. "I've got a soldier suit myself and I can get it."

"No, no, no!" objected the queen. "No, indeed. We have enough fighters. We need doctors and a nurse. Nick, you can be a surgeon and Nancy, you may be a Red Cross nurse."

Then she turned to one of her fairies. "Silver Wing, go and bring Master Nick a satchel with adhesive tape, glue, string, paint and putty. And bring Miss Nancy a cap and apron; also some bandages and scissors."

Away went Silver Wing, and soon returned with the things which she handed to the Twins.

"Your Magic Shoes will take you straight to the place," said the Fairy Queen. "Now, goodbye my dears."

MR. EMIL LONGHENRY, COLUMBUS, O.

"Ka-di-ok is the Finest Blood Medicine and System Tonic I Have Ever Heard of," Says Columbus Man.

Mr. Emil Longhenry, who lives at 725 Reinhard Avenue, Columbus, says: "It was all run down and felt tired all the time; was also very nervous and was always constipated. As a rule, after supper I would fall asleep in my chair, as it seemed impossible for me to keep awake. My face and hands were in a miserable condition with eczema; my skin would get red and itched and crack open. It looked so bad, at times that I felt almost ashamed to be seen by my friends. I tried everything to overcome it in the way of ointments and lotions but could not cure it. Since taking Ka-di-ok my skin has all cleared up and has become smooth and soft. Not only that, I am feeling fine in every way; I don't fall asleep in my more chairs, but I eat hearty and am strong and fit and when it is time to go to bed I am ready for sleep, but not before. I want to say in conclusion that my bowels move freely and my blood is in fine condition. Ka-di-ok is the finest blood medicine and system tonic I have ever heard of in my life."

Ka-di-ok can be obtained in Portsmouth at Fisher & Streich's Drug Store.—Advertisement.

Market News

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, April 9.—Prices displayed a firm tone at the opening of today's stock market. Multiplied evidences of business of prosperity continued in weekly trade and industrial operations, and a resumption of the Pan American Oil issues and producers and refiners all opening fractionally above Saturday's closing prices.

Some irregularity developed after buying orders had been disposed of but the main trend continued upward. Sugar was again in good demand. Alameda leading the advance with a gain of 1 point. Erie first preferred advanced 1 point. N. Y. Central and Union Pacific were heavy. With the exception of Otis Steel, the independent steel issues were slightly reactionary. Computing Tabulating and Recording, National Department Stores first preferred and American Steel and Foundry all advanced a point or more but most of the others early changes were of a fractional nature. Strength of French francs which advanced 4 1/2 points to 67 1/2 cents, was a feature of the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling held steady around $16 1/2.

Further readjustment of the market's technical condition resulted in a mixed movement of prices during the morning. Trading was on a reduced scale, speculative operations in many stocks being suspended or considerably curtailed pending a more definite trend of prices. Sales of Cuban raw sugar at 5 1/2 cents a pound, the highest in two years, brought fresh buying power into the sugar shares which showed consistent strength. Equipments displayed a firm tone some of the oil, particularly General Asphalt and other industrial shares were inclined to advance. Contract of $89,000,000 in loans shown in the weekly clearing house statement was regarded as a constructive factor. Call money opened at 4 1/2 per cent.

Confused price movements took place in today's relatively dull stock market. High money, announcement of new financing by the American Woodmen company and speculative disappointment over the latest reports of tentative railroad valuations by the Interstate Commerce commission induced some profit taking and short selling but the net losses were small. Operations for the rise were continued in other quarters with indifferent success.

Sales were 750,000 shares. The closing was irregular.

CHICAGO, April 9.—Wheat, corn and oats today all touched new high price records for the season. Lateness of wheat seeding northwest combined with a bullish factor in the wheat market and so did absence of rain in western Nebraska and western Kansas. Memorial Services Held By U. C. T.

Annual memorial services held by River City Council, United Commercial Travelers at the Second Presbyterian church Sunday morning were well attended. Close to 75 members of the Council met at their hall Fourth and Washington streets and marched to the church where Rev. Hugh I. Evans delivered a special sermon on the subject, "The Heritage of Godly Men."

Special music was rendered by a male quartet composed of Harry Denton, H. W. C. Mehlberg, T. C. Lloyd and Mendel Jones and the choir. "The Resurrection Morn" and "Speed Thee, Christian," were the quartet numbers.

During the past year four of the members of River City Council passed away. They were J. H. James, W. W. Breece, J. C. Sears and W. H. Higgins.

Since the organization was formed in 1890, 79 members have passed on. The memorial service by the U. C. T. was short but very impressive. As Secretary M. J. Ruggles read the name of each deceased member a little girl would carry a carnation from the rear of the church to the pulpit where Miss Virginia Tracy or Miss Mary Louise Bernhardt would receive the flower and deposit it in a vase. Twenty-two little girls carried the flowers forward. At the conclusion of the reading of the list of deceased members C. E. Dowling, chairman of the memorial made memorial remarks and offered prayer.

The committee in charge of the memorial services included C. E. Dowling, P. H. Harsha, M. G. Bollwell and O. H. Dickey.

UNITED BRETHREN CHURCH NEWS

The high school boys of Mrs. A. W. Whitestone's class will have the use of the gym this evening from six to eight.

On Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 in class room number five at the church the Woman's Missionary Association will hold their regular monthly meeting. The ladies are asked to note the change in meeting from Thursday to Tuesday. Hostesses for this meeting will be Mrs. Noah Williams, Mrs. Theo. Mader, Mrs. Ray Chestnut, and Mrs. Grace Cramer. All ladies just received into the membership of the church are asked to attend this meeting.

The Osterheim Guild will meet at the home of Miss Rose Cox, 1117 Findlay street, Tuesday evening at seven o'clock. All the unmarried ladies of the church are invited to attend this meeting and take part in the missionary activities of this Mission Circle.

Terminals Church News

Sunday was a big day at Terminals church. The Sunday school had the largest attendance for several months, there being 93 present. The largest congregation of the revival meetings was present last night. The Junior choir furnished the music for the morning service and the regular choir for the evening service.

The revival meetings will continue for a few days longer. It was the unanimous opinion of the church folk that the interest was now reaching the high point, and that the services should continue for a few days at least. Services will be held each evening at 7 o'clock. Special music at every service.

Another "Sugar Plum" Sale at Andersons' Beginning Tuesday and Closing Saturday

Shake The Tree

Right now at the very beginning of the season when there are so many things one needs, what a welcome event is this "Sugar Plum" Sale. Positively anything and everything you buy here for the next five days, providing your purchase amounts to five dollars or more, will carry with it a handsome dividend to you in the way of a saving ranging up to $1.50. This does not apply on certain selected items but on anything you buy. If you buy in various departments to make your amount of five dollars or more, ask the saleslady for a PINK TRANSFER SLIP to record your purchases.

Read The Rules

"Sugar Plums" will be sold only to those who have met the requirements by purchasing FIVE DOLLARS OR MORE in merchandise on ONE SHOPPING TOUR. Every slip is dated and must be redeemed on the same day the purchases are made. No deviations from this rule can be made. Don't misinterpret the rules. If you buy a five dollar hat you are entitled to one "Sugar Plum" and the same is true if you buy a hundred dollar rug. "Sugar Plums" with charge sales the same as cash.

This Is Opportunity Time For You

This is the third "Sugar Plum" Sale Andersons' store has had. The "Sugar Plum" Sale has proven itself to be one of the most popular events that this big store has ever inaugurated. Thousands who have attended these previous sales will not miss this one for the world and those who are not familiar with the workings of this "Sugar Plum" Sale will certainly do well to learn about it at once. This sale is short, it lasts only 5 days, or the balance of the week.

Now Is The Time To Save Money

We told you during our first "Sugar Plum" Sale that if it met with the popular approval of our patrons we would add it as one of our regular sales to be held periodically throughout the year. The sale met with such hearty response and met such hearty approval of our patrons that we have the sale with us again for five days. Remember that this "Sugar Plum" Sale practically means that whatever merchandise you want to buy is reduced in price. Too often at sales, the very merchandise you want to buy is not reduced but Andersons' "Sugar Plum" Sale makes everything in the store at a special price by your receiving your savings in a "Sugar Plum." Harding Has Busy Program

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(By the United Press)—President Harding's mind is centered on a set of government problems which he intends to clear up before returning to anything else. They are these:

The sugar price situation.
Mexican recognition.
The campaign for United States adherence to the international court and an effective reply to campaign for American membership in the League of Nations.

Settlement of question of Germany's payment for American army of occupation.
Appointment of a dirt farmer to the federal reserve board.
Increased government economy.
Mr. Harding tackled all these problems today immediately after his return from a vacation and set in motion the government machinery necessary to evolve decisions of policy on all of them.

"Shiek Of Shieks" Married To Five Young Widows

CHICAGO, April 9.—(By the Associated Press)—Joseph Sundsky, described by police as an ex-courier, and "shiek of shieks", is under arrest here today accused of marrying five young widows whose husbands left them considerable insurance. The arrests followed the appearance of Mrs. Loretta Schneider in Sundsky's home after he married Angie Larson at the end of a whirlwind courtship.

Mrs. Schneider, police declared, demanded her husband. Mrs. Larson swore out a warrant. Today he confessed marrying three other women. One in Pekin, Ill.; one in Chicago, and the other in Toronto, Canada. The Toronto widow was the first wife. Police said he was known here as "Jack Wood". He is also wanted as a deserter from the Canadian army and on charge of breaking a parole from Leavenworth. He served a term in the Illinois pen for assault on a young girl.

Herrick Charges Unfairness
COLUMBUS, O., April 9.—(By the Associated Press)—State Highway Director Herrick, following Governor Donahue's request for his resignation, today made public a letter addressed to the government, in which he charges that the governor was unfair in his order of last Wednesday that Mr. Herrick cancel the contract with the Metropolitan Paving Brick Company of Canton to furnish 400,000 bricks because the price was too high and because they had not been ordered from the state welfare department.

Mr. Herrick points out that E. M. Clark of the Manufacturing and sales division of the welfare department had advised the highway department that he would be unable to furnish the brick from the state penitentiary brick plant and also that the price of $20 per thousand which the governor said the penitentiary plant could furnish the brick, represented the price at the plant at Junction City and not delivered on the road job. The contract at $33 per thousand made with the Metropolitan company, Herrick said, was the price delivered. Were the penitentiary plant able to furnish the brick, Herrick said, the saving would have been only $2,348 instead of $5,200.

Mr. Herrick stated today that he would make no immediate reply to the governor's request for his resignation before April 15.

U. S. Sends Note To Cuba

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(By the United Press)—The United States has sent a note to Cuba on the present crisis in the island Republic. It was reported today at the state department. A note was handed to the Cuban government by General Crowder, the American ambassador at Havana, and was formulated in cooperation with the state department. The present situation is brought about by the resignation of the cabinet at the request of President Vargas. The United States wants to be sure that this development will not endanger the program of readjustment in Cuba and has so stated in the note.

Rotarians Enjoy Humorous Address Given By B. E. Williams, Ex-Revenue Collector

One of the most thoroughly enjoyable meetings in the history of the Portsmouth Rotary Club was held Monday noon at the Elk parlors when the entertainment committee for the month, of which Gilbert S. Monroe was chairman, secured for the day's speaker, Hon. B. E. Williams, of Columbus, former Collector of Internal Revenue for this district. Mr. Williams has a national reputation as a monologist, especially in newspaper circles, having appeared before the leading Press clubs of the country at their various functions. He has been a newspaper man all his life, having been editor of various Columbus papers and Columbus correspondent for Cleveland papers.

His talk to the Rotarians was a gem. He did not try to be serious, and his talk was a scream, filled with delicate humor and interspersed with delightful, well told stories. Again and again the speaker had to stop while the Rotarians shouted with laughter. At the close of his talk Mr. Williamson was warmly congratulated and extended a warm invitation to come again, and to be sure and drop in any time he happened to be in this section of the state on Rotary meeting days.

Announcement was made that ballots for directors had been mailed to all members and they were urged to vote and return ballots at the earliest possible moment.

A committee was named to secure a camp for holding meetings during the summer months.

Never Guessed She Hated Him So

By ELLA SAUNDERS

John Lawson lived in a model house on the outskirts of the factory town. He was forty years old and had a job as a clerk which brought him in $35. He was married, but had no children.

On this particular afternoon he was leaving early. It was a Friday, and by arrangement he had to stay Saturday afterwards. As he walked up the hill toward his home his dog came bounding to meet him, leaping up at him. It was an old dog—twelve years old, and he had had it before he married. He stopped and patted it.

"Well, Ranger, old boy, we've gone through some times together," he said.

He was a little sentimental with his dog, because it was all he had to be sentimental with. He lit his pipe, and he dawdled, so as not to get home too soon. He was not eager to get home. He was not eager to meet Ella.

Sometimes on those Friday afternoons, during the walk home, Lawson indulged in the luxury of bitterness. At such times his past would rise before him. He would remember his father's home, from which he had been expelled for an act of boyish folly, his struggles, his love affair that had ended so disastrously.

He had been madly in love with Mary Baines. But he had been a poor clerk, and she had been brought up in luxury. She had promised to wait for him. She had waited a year, two years—three. Then, instead of the expected promotion, Lawson had lost his job.

He went to Mary and they talked things over. There was no hope that he would be able to marry her, perhaps for years. He had received her. She had been too proud to refuse. She would have waited endlessly. He had seen that afterward, when it was too late. But she had married another, too.

He had married Ella in the reaction. She had captured him on the tide of misery. She was a vain, shallow little thing, and had never cared for him, any more than he had cared for her. They had quarreled from the beginning, all through the honeymoon. She had craved things that he had been unable to give her, had been envious of the neighbors, of the women's clothes, of their cars.

Yes, Lawson had gone through hideous times with her. Of late, however, Ella's outbursts had grown less frequent.

But, dear Lord, how long could it last! He was wondering, as he climbed the hill with Ranger, whether he was bound to a lifetime of this servitude. And all his being responded to the call of the far spaces.

To be free, to go out into the world, to live among men! He would go West, he would play a man's part in the free world, get to know the sun and moon and stars, to read the faces of his fellow-men. Always he had dreamed that, until his lot had tied him to a desk in the grinding, shrieking factory.

And now he was going home to Ella. She would offer him her cold cheek at the door, and they would quarrel over the supper, or the weather, there were always things to quarrel over. Then night would come—hideous, inevitable night, and the morning arising, and the factory whistle!

And always the face of his lost love, in the dark hours, to torment him!

He was nearly home now. Even Ranger seemed to become subdued, in compliance with his master's mood. Now he was at the door and opening it.

He knew immediately that Ella was not in the house. There was that sense of freedom. . . . Perhaps she had gone into town, shopping.

Sometimes he had a respite like this, for which he never ceased to be grateful. He wandered through the shabby rooms. And "How long?" the soul within him called, long!

He perceived a letter addressed to himself in Ella's writing, lying on the table. He opened it, read it.

She had left him forever. She had gone away with Tedermann, a fellow-clerk. He would never see her again. Hate breathed from every line. He had never guessed she hated him so much.

He folded up the letter, lit a match and burned it. All the unholy past seemed to shiver away with it. He stepped outside and whistled to his dog.

"Ranger, old man, we're free at last!" he said. "We're going West."

And Ranger, bounding to his side, he set his face from the turn of the road.

Lady Northcliffe Weds Husband's Friend

Lady Northcliffe and Sir R.A. Hudson.

Shortly after the death of Lord Northcliffe, the English publisher, rumors were broadcasted that on his deathbed he had asked his widow to marry his lifelong friend, Sir Robert Arundell Hudson. Whether this report be true or false, Lady Northcliffe has become the bride of Sir Robert, at Harlebury, England. She inherited the $25,000,000 Northcliffe estate.

WEAR ALL CLOTHES LOOSE

Tight-Fitting Articles of Apparel Unknown Among the Eskimos—Their Boots Waterproof.

The Eskimo makes a point of wearing the loosest garments imaginable, and no tight-fitting underclothes. Authorities agree that the Eskimos are the hardest race in the world. As babies they go unclothed, being carried about in hoods of their mother's furs. The Eskimos' feet also receive great care. Their women are credited with making the only absolutely waterproof boot in existence. It is made of seal skin, without the fur, "lamed" and kept pliable by chewing. The parts are sewn together with deer sinews in a lock-stitch which no other race seems to understand. Within this boot of "chevied" seal skin a deerskin sock is worn, the hair being next to the foot. Sock and boot come off together, and every night they are dried on a framework rigged above a glow oil lamp which is kept burning constantly for this purpose and for the melting of snow for drinking water.

Making a Man of Harry

By JUSTIN WENTWOOD

"A mighty little thing like that!" stormed old Uncle John. "I tell you, Harry, she won't be grown up enough to realize the responsibilities of marriage for five years to come. And you won't be able to support a wife for five years to come. She's a nice little thing, but you'd better look elsewhere, boy."

"Uncle," said Harry Leecroft, "I love Dora and she loves me. And if you don't give your consent I'll marry her anyway."

Uncle John frowned. "You always were headstrong, my boy," he said. "Dora has the makings of a very fine woman in her, but—boy, can't you wait?"

"Because, apart from the financial considerations, marriage at the ages of twenty-three and twenty, before your characters are formed, will spell unhappiness for both of you."

Uncle John was very much perturbed about his favorite nephew. When he heard of the engagement he had invited little Dora Seales to come and stay with him in his big house. Uncle John was seventy-five and not likely to live many years more. He took to Dora immediately; everyone took to Dora, but she was quite unfitted for the responsibilities of married life.

And he was devoted to his nephew. "Look here, boy, you go back to your job and think it over," said Uncle John. "Dora will remain my guest till your summer holidays. Then we'll talk things over."

There was a pitiless leave-taking for the young couple. Dora was evidently deeply hurt. Yet, when he was away, Harry realized the truth in his uncle's remarks. Their courtship had been such a whirlwind affair. He had won her from two other suitors. And then, even after their engagement, there had been quarrels, though they were devoted to each other, and one of the discarded suitors had loomed upon the horizon again.

He went away with a heavy heart. This was not lightened by Dora's letters. They were not cold, but all the spirit of their love had gone out of them.

A week before his summer holidays Harry received a printed notice announcing Dora's marriage to his uncle!

For a while he saw red. This was the most incomprehensible thing that he could have dreamed of. Dora, married to Uncle John! A man of seventy-five, with one foot in the grave. The sordidness of it struck him cold. Dora, marrying the old man for his money!

At first he planned to rush back home and—well, and what? No words would be adequate; there was nothing he could do or say. The treachery and the stain of it filled him with loathing.

In the end he did nothing at all; simply cut himself off from them, returned the two letters which he received unopened, and grudgingly stuck to his job. There would be no love in his life.

And in his work he found a certain consolation. The happy-go-lucky boy had become transformed into a resolute man. Three months later he was unexpectedly promoted to an important position, at a salary of seventy-five dollars a week.

He thought grimly how, but for his uncle's treachery, Dora and he could have married. He looked back on their love. How childish it had been, after all. He was a man now; he knew how a woman should be handled. Dora would have found him very different.

Another three months passed, and Harry received a letter announcing that his uncle had passed away, leaving him and Dora equal shares in a fortune estimated at a hundred thousand dollars.

He sunk to his job. Once he would have thrown it up and lived on the interest of his capital; now work was his only incentive.

"Your uncle left this letter for you," said the lawyer, when he handed him the check.

At first Harry was tempted to destroy it unopened. Then curiosity mastered him. He read:

"My Dear Boy: When you read this I think you will understand, as Dora does, because I have your welfare so deeply at heart I have persuaded Dora to enter into a nominal marriage with me, to keep her for you. I have less than a year to live. It will make a man of you or break you. It is your loss in life if you survive. It you will be grateful to me."

He read, and an immense load was lifted from his heart. He laughed. Life had suddenly become rosy again. And he had no troubles in the world. Why should he have? He was going to Dora.

Garibaldi's Love of Animals.

George Macaulay Trevelyan, author of an old book about the Italian patriot, tells this story about his love of animals:

"The tenderness of the brave, he took thought not only for men and women, but for the boys and sufferings of animals. Ever since the day when, as a child, he had cried over the wounded grasshopper, he was brother to every living thing. He could not endure that a bird should be caged, nor allow an animal to be struck in his presence. It pained him even to see flowers plucked, or a bunch wantonly broken.

Army Airplanes Complete Record Flight

Six army airplanes, carrying 12 officers, under command of Captain Thomas G. Lanphier, shown arriving in Washington, after the completion of a record-breaking 4,000-mile flight, which was made to prepare plans to "bottle up" the Caribbean Sea in the event of an enemy naval attack. The planes traveled on absolute schedule from San Antonio, Texas, to Cuba and Porto Rico, returning to Washington, where they were greeted by Secretary Weeks, Assistant Secretary Dwight Davis, General Masou T. Patrick, Chief of the Army Air Service, and Brigadier-General Hines, Assistant Chief of Staff. The planes covered 5,400 miles in 61 hours, 38 minutes flying time. By reaching Porto Rico on schedule time they showed that within three days, the entire American Air Force can be mobilized on that island to bomb and sink any approaching enemy fleet. There was not an accident on the flight.

Day Labor In Steel Plants Get Eleven Percent Raise

CHICAGO, April 9.—(By the Associated Press)—Increased wages for employees of the Illinois Steel Company with an eleven percent advance for day labor, was announced at the company's offices today.

Who is Fastest Typist? Men are more rapid typists than women. Men are slower typists than women. Doctor J. McKee Cattell, president of the Psychological corporation, believes that these apparently contradictory statements are true, although the question cannot be definitely determined until sufficiently large groups of men and women have been examined and compared.

But the typist of exceptional speed would be more likely to be a man, Dr. Cattell says, for it has been demonstrated that men are more frequently color blind than women, but the great colorists have been men as are the great performers on the piano and violin. This difference extends to the lower animals. The male bird or mammal is more brightly colored and variously ornamented and armed than the female.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 9.—(By the Associated Press)—A wage increase of approximately 11 per cent for all employees, was announced today by the local offices of the Carnegie Steel Company, a subsidiary of the U. S. Steel Corporation.

Under the new scale common labor will be paid 40 cents an hour, as against 36 at present, and other classes of employees will receive proportionate increases. It is believed that independent steel companies of this district will follow the action of the Carnegie Company. If this belief is borne out, 30,000 workers will be affected.

SHARON, PA., April 9.—(By the Associated Press)—Heads of the steel mills here, subsidiaries of the U. S. Steel Corporation were notified late today that a wage increase of approximately 11 per cent for common labor will go into effect on April 14, and that all other wages will be equally adjusted.

Breaking the Hoodoo. "What, leaving, Jane? Why, you only came yesterday."

"Yes'm; you're the thirteenth unless I've had this year an' that's unlucky."

"Why, then, did you come?"

"Cause I had to have a thirteenth, so I thought I'd get it over with. I leaves to night, ma'am."

Suppose, tomorrow, all newspapers were discontinued. What a furor would be created. For we must have news!

Or suppose, that beginning tomorrow, the newspapers stopped running advertisements. We would discover that politics, the doings of society, notices of fires, accidents, deaths, scandals, sports and activities of the police and criminals of one sort or another, add little to our comfort and happiness in this age of enlightenment.

Without advertising we would remain in total ignorance of much that concerns us vitally—news of the things that have to do with the personal, every-day life of each one of us.

Some one might be selling a new, better and more economical food, or a utensil that would add immeasurably to our comfort and well-being, or some material for making shoes or clothing—but we would never know it.

Modern advertising has made and is making the world better housed, better fed, better clothed. It has increased the world's capacity for things that elevate, improve and idealize the important business of living. It is a big, vital force in fostering convenient and comfortable life. Without its direction we would overlook much and therefore lose much.

Don't fail to take advantage of advertising. It will prove invaluable to you.

HOW THE VANDERBILTS WON

The Vanderbilts obtained the first secure foothold in New York's leading society by a great fancy-dress ball given by Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt in her beautiful Fifth avenue house on the evening of March 26, 1883. It surpassed in splendor, in beauty, in brilliancy, and in luxurious and lavish response any scene before witnessed in New York. But two or three of the leaders of New York society, notably Mrs. William Astor, had never called upon any of the ladies of the Vanderbilt family.

According to the generally accepted story, soon after the announcement of the forthcoming ball, but before the formal invitations had been issued, Miss Carrie Astor, the only unmarried daughter of Mrs. William Astor, organized a fancy dress quadrille to be danced at the ball by several young ladies and gentlemen, it being taken for granted by the Astors that, as leaders of society, they would, of course, be invited. Mrs. Vanderbilt heard of this, and, instead of the usual of some friends that she could not invite Miss Astor to her ball, as her mother had never called upon her, she reached Mrs. Astor's ears, and soon after she called upon Mrs. Vanderbilt. She and her daughter were invited to the Vanderbilt ball.

Thus did the ball break the last barrier down and the Vanderbilt family was firmly established among New York's social leaders.

CARRY WEALTH WITH THEM

East Indians Convert Savings into Jewelry With Which Their Clothing Is Lavishly Decorated.

The city of Darjeeling, on the border between northeastern India and south Tibet, is a great market place for a wide countryside, where the westerner in the person of the English comes in contact with Tibet, Bhootia and Nepal.

Except for some savage or semi-savage peoples there is nowhere else, perhaps, such a lavish and widespread display of barbaric jewelry on the person as one sees in Darjeeling. As is the habit of all Indians—indeed, of most Asiatics—the bulk of the natives' wealth, converted into jewelry, is carried about. Every Sunday morning in the little stone-paved market-place of Darjeeling congregates a human medley, a clothing exhibition, an outlay of second-hand desiderata, a jewelry bazaar. There is the tarboosh of the Hindu, the plaited straw of the laborer on the plantations, the fur-trimmed cloth cap of the Tibetan mountaineer; face types that grade all the way from South Indian Tamil swarthy to the Parsee and the high caste Indian Brahmin; from the "Caucasian lineaments" to the pure Chinese, says a writer in the Christian Science Monitor.

How to Make Shoes Last Longer.

The soles of shoes can be made to last much longer if ordinary varnish is applied to them. When the shoes are new, or have just been resoled, apply the varnish to the soles. Allow an interval for drying, and then give them a second coat. When this has become hard give them still another coat. The whole operation will not take very long, as varnish dries more quickly on leather than it does on wood. Be quite sure that the varnish is set before attempting to wear the shoes. After a few days the varnish will wear in certain places on the soles, so that it will pay to touch these spots up again and leave them overnight. The application of varnish has the additional advantage of making leather absolutely waterproof. For this reason it is a good plan when putting on the varnish to put a little on the part where the upper joins the sole.

First "Woman's Rights" Exponent.

Saint Birgitta, the only marked personality of Roman Catholic Sweden (before the Reformation) known to the popes, is said to have been the first apostle of "woman's rights" the world has known. She pleaded for "mixed orders" and "mixed convents" to insure the frank and practical co-operation of men and women in the work of aiding suffering humanity. Her canonization, however, was due more to the merit of her pilgrimages to Rome and Jerusalem and to her services in bringing about the return of the popes from Avignon to Rome than to her pious and charitable endeavors, or to the example of ardent faith which inspired her to her countrywomen, and by which she was better known in her own country.

Language on Simple Basis.

The Chinese language is based on simple monosyllables, each one a complete word. The number varies from about 900 in Cantonese to about 400 in the Peking dialect, the so-called Mandarin Chinese.

These two dialects mark the two extremes of Chinese speech. Cantonese being considered the most representative of native development, while the dialect of Peking has been modified by the Manchu conquerors who were originally of Finno-Uralian or Finnish stock. Yet with all the modifications that it has undergone it still preserves its distinctive Chinese character.

PAIR SHOULD BE PARTNERS

And Both Husband and Wife Ought to Be Permitted to Have Their Own Way at Times.

It is not so nearly true as it was years ago that men earn money and women spend it, but it is still considerably true. Men still have control of the chief agencies for wage-earning and earn most of the wages paid. Women have the spending of most of the money that is earned and brought home for the support of families. The chief end of man is still what the Westminster catechism says it is, but his next most important end is to satisfy women. Women are more contented when they have their own way a part of the time—so are men. Women's wishes should be dominant in certain departments of life, men's wishes in certain others; but there is no department of life in which women can afford to ignore the wishes of men, or men the wishes of women.

And so it is that in public as well as in private dealings between men and women persuasion works better than compulsion. Against exacting women men are instinctively on their guard. They usually avoid such women if they can. No man can afford to be driven by women into positions they do not approve of, and if they cannot run away they are likely to turn obstinate or worse. But most men are very open to persuasion, and if led around to look at a proposal from that point of view their objections to it may disappear. —Philadelphia Record.

RACING HORSES IN DESERT

Pictureque Scenes When Natives of Mesopotamia Gather for Their Favorite Sport.

Horse-racing is a sport beloved by the natives of Mesopotamia. They swarm to the Basrah races and the autumn meet of this Arab Epsom is a curious and diverting sight. A European innovation is the new brick grandstand with a substantial roof and benches spread with many-colored Persian rugs. Behind the grandstand are the wooden sheds roofed with matting to exclude the heat. Large thousands are seated and here resort the trainers, stewards and the all-important "totalisator," with his hangers-on. The paddock is a patch of desert—like the course itself. Native gamblers also congregate around the sheds. They are shaggy and picturesque—at a distance. At close quarters they are indistinguishable dirty and mean. They sit in dykes in the dust, like a lot of dingy crows, heedless of the crowds surging around them as they make their game and choose their favorites for the race. The desert man is a reckless bidder, he stakes his all upon his favorite horse. In stolidism he resembles the American Indian, for whether he wins or loses his expression never changes.

Face Dangers to Deliver Mail.

In India the distribution of a great deal of mail matter is performed by runners. They are drawn largely from the lowest castes and least civilized races, and many of them are animists by religion. They are ready to face wild beasts and wandering criminals, but will go miles out of their way to avoid an evil spirit in a tree.

With them the mail bag is a kind of fetish, which must be protected at all costs. Dishonesty among them is very rare, and they are wonderfully true to their "cast," which seldom exceeds $5 a month. Not a year passes that does not take its toll of mail runners who lose their lives in the execution of their duty. It may be a tiger, a scorpion, river, an avalanche in the Himalayas, or the hands of robbers. But the work goes on just the same—the mail must go through, whatever happens.

The Iliad Dramatic.

In Virgil's poetry a sense of the greatness of Rome and Italy is the leading motive of a passionate rhetoric, partly veiled by the "chosen delicacy" of his language. Dante and Milton are still more faithful exponents of the religion and politics of their time. But in Homer the interest is more dramatic. There is no strong antipathy of race or religion; the war turns on no political event; the capture of Troy lies outside the range of the Iliad. Even the heroes are not the chief national heroes of Greece. The interest lies wholly (so far as we can see) in the picture of human action and feeling. —H. B. Munro.

Moist and Dry Air.

Dry air is slightly heavier than ordinary humid—not foggy air. The number of molecules in a given volume of air and the same volume of water in the form of invisible gas under the same conditions is the same. When such water molecules are introduced into the dry air a corresponding number of air molecules are displaced. The molecular weights of air, and water, are 29 and 18 respectively. The molecules of air are greater than the atomic weight of water vapor. Therefore since a light substance replaces a heavier one the total weight is less. Foggy or smoky air is quite likely to be heavier than dry air.

Silence Was Golden.

"She cannot," replied Mabel, "but my friend I never mention her for she can throw considerable weight."—London Weekly Telegraph.

British Cabinet Under Fire

LONDON, April 9.—(By the Associated Press)—The most important part of the present parliamentary session begins today when the house of commons reassembles after a short vacation.
It is universally admitted that there are critical times ahead. Scotland has there been an administration that has drawn more criticism from the press because of its alleged shortcomings.
The cabinet, of course, has its defenders and apologists, but a perusal of this morning's papers leaves the general impression that its opponents decidedly have the big end of the stick.

Four Players To Help Athletics

Contie Mack is of the opinion that the experimental days are over, that the Athletics have arrived. That will be good news to the many followers of Mack all over the country. Four players who Mack believes will aid in the Athletics' fight to the top are Sammy Hale, Wild Matthews, Walter Kinney and Riconda. Matthews is an outfielder, Hale and Riconda are third basemen, and Kinney is a pitcher who was with the Athletics a few years back, but who has been out of baseball for some time as the result of a Judge Landis sentence for breaking the rules of the game.

In an exhibition game played in Madisonville, Ky., Sunday, the Boston Red Sox beat Louisville 13 to 10, the game being a real slugfest.

Is Very Ill

Mrs. R. L. Armstrong is very ill at her home on Front street.

The Ironton Register Sunday said: "At last that football game with Portsmouth High has been booked. There will be but one game with the downriver club this year and that one contest will be staged at Beechwood Park on October 20th. The two schools could not reach an agreement on the Thanksgiving game proposition and it was abandoned with a return to the one-game-a-season plan that has been in effect for several years. The River Citizens owe Ironton High another game after the present season, on the Beechwood lot and have agreed to fill the date here.

Huntington High has asked to meet the Ironton High eleven on September 22nd and want the game played at Huntington. Coach Davies, who is framing the schedule, will agree to the contest only if a two-year contract is entered, bringing the Huntingtonians to Ironton the following year. This would start a series of tri-state games that should prove interesting.

Following are a few of the dates arranged for the schedule of next football season:

Wellston at Ironton, Oct. 13.
Portsmouth at Ironton, Oct. 20.
Ashland at Ironton, Nov. 3.
Jackson at Ironton, Nov. 10.
Ironton at Athens, Nov. 17.

Other dates are being held for Gallipolis, Chillicothe and Lexington, Ky. A Cincinnati team also will be booked. These engagements have not yet been agreed upon, though a date has been set down and it is likely that the schedule will be completed before the end of the present year.

ED WALSH OF WHITE SOX FAME IS IRON MAN OF BASEBALL

Urban "Red" Faber of the White Sox and Urban Shocker of the St. Louis Browns were the two hardest-worked pitchers in the major leagues last season. Faber was in 43 games, hurling 333 innings, while Shocker toiled in five more tilts, but five less frames. The two Browns led the field in labor by a wide margin. However, these figures don't begin to compare with the "iron man" stunts that Ed Walsh of the White Sox used to pull when he was in his prime. For instance, back in 1908, "Big Ed" toiled in 66 trays for a total of 464 innings. In 1910 he was in 45 games, or 369 sessions; 1911, 55 tilts, or 368 innings, and in 1912 he toiled in 62 bouts, or 383 frames. Thus in those four seasons he averaged 57 games a campaign, or 390 innings of work. Nothing soft about that. About the nearest approach to Walsh's sensational performance in 1908 was that of Christy Mathewson in the same year. Matty that season was on the mound in 56 games for a total of 416 innings. But even that was 10 battles shy and 48 frames short of Walsh's mark. "Big Ed" Walsh was surely an "iron man" when it came to taking his place in the pitcher's box. In fact, he was a veritable glutton for work.

BLAIR MAY MEET K. O. JAEKLE

The Chillicothe Boxing Commission is still making an effort to match Sig Blair of this city and K. O. Jaekle of Toledo for a 12 round go in the Ancient Metropolis. Blair is a favorite there and the Paint Creek fans have hoped it out that Jaekle is the lad who will give him a great scrap.

INDIAN RECRUITS MAKING GOOD

CLEVELAND, O., April 9.—The Cleveland Indians were in New Orleans today, where they will complete their spring training. Games between the regulars and Yankigans are planned up to Thursday, when a four game series between Cleveland and the South-eastern champions will be worked.

SISLER IN ST. LOUIS LINEUP MEANS EV ERYTHING TO BROWNS

The big question for the St. Louis Browns is George Sisler. He carries the batting threat, the offensive punch. The presence of Sisler means the difference between a confeder and the average club.

His absence from the lineup would spell disaster, not only because of the loss of the punch, but the psychological effect on the entire club.

Fohl feels sure that Sisler will be in the game from the start, says he has such assurance from the club and Sisler himself. It is said that the trouble with Sisler's arm has been entirely cured. If Sisler's arm is right, his failure to report for spring training means nothing. Always fit, two weeks will make Sisler ready to start at the top of his game.

Naturally the spirit of the manager permeates the entire camp of the Browns, who feel sure New York is going to have a busy summer, all of which seems quite true.

One Alibi That Made Good

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 9.—Mike O'Dowd's alibi has made good. But it took the backing of a famous clinic at Rochester, Minn., to which the great and small, rich and poor alike take their physical ailments to give it weight in a doubting sporting world, always alert to jeer the latest "reason why I lost."

Yesterday the scrub announcing the pugilistic retirement of the "Fighting Harp" once the world's champion middleweight after his knockout by Jack Malone, also a Twin city ring product, was headlined:

"This is a brand new one," "O'Dowd has unique alibi"; and "Something new in alibi."

He said he would like to meet Malone, again but that a leg he injured 12 years ago in a sleighing accident bothered him and that a man just could not defend himself in the boxing ring on one leg.

Today the papers dropped their sporting attitude.

In the conventional manner they printed that a diagnosis at the Mayo Clinic had indicated O'Dowd was suffering from a primary lateral sclerosis of the spinal cord which was affecting his leg.

This week the "Harp" will go back for treatment.

TENNIS STARS CLASH

PINEHURST, N. C., April 9.—(By the Associated Press)—G. C. Carter, Schaefer, Philadelphia, north and south tennis champion, has a strong field against him in the opening of the annual tournament today with the playing of the preliminary singles round.

Glenn Richards, Howard Vossell, former national indoor champion; Dr. Phillip B. Hawk, Philadelphia, Southern and Florida state champion, and an unusually large number of New England players are among the entrants.

The women's singles also have a commanding entry list.

INCOME TAX AND PROSPERITY

A good many persons are paying Uncle Sam larger amounts on account of income this year than last. Thousands who paid nothing last year made contributions to the federal treasury this year. This is good for the nation and by no means bad for the individuals affected. Some will feel that they are mulcted. In reality they are but shouldering their fair proportion of the costs of government and is conducted for the common benefit.

The amounts which individuals pay in excess of what they paid a year ago, if they paid anything, represent the greater prosperity that has come to them. Nineteen-twenty-one was not a good year. Nineteen-twenty-two was not a bad year. Nineteen-twenty-three will be better than its immediate predecessor. That is worth a moment's reflection. Because it is so good, however, people are sensible of any hardship in handing over to the internal revenue collectors the amount of income tax due.

Americans ought to pay income taxes with good grace for the amount each one pays signifies in a sense the degree in which he has benefited through maintenance of the national government.

FULL USE OF FACULTIES

A Texas minister found his eyesight failing. Because he was threatened with blindness he started to read with an attention vastly more intense than theretofore because what he read he might soon be unable to read again. He committed to memory the entire New Testament and parts of the Old Testament. He found the feat far less difficult than he had imagined because he made full use of his faculties. Through his misfortune he found the spur to development of his memory to a far greater capacity than he had imagined possible.

It is said that McCauley could not forget anything. Anything once in his possession remained his. It is no trouble to remember those things which one really wants to remember, but most persons absorb so much with a half-interest that it does not impress itself firmly. It is claimed that one does not actually forget, that one buries the information so deeply, perhaps, that it cannot be easily dug out but it remains lodged in the mind though it may be tucked in an obscure corner and appear inaccessible.

Genius consists not so much in superior powers as in using ordinary ones to full capacity. A noted minister in a Western city has the reputation of being able to grasp the essentials of a book in a few minutes. He has had handed to him a book he has never before seen, then after he had only glanced through it, apparently, has stood an examination on the argument adduced, proving that he has grasped the whole while the ordinary person would have been poring over a page or two. Doubtless he does not read every word. He is able to jump from the chaff to the wheat, to separate the decoration from the substance because he uses his faculties.

The difference between the pupil's reading of his lesson and the story of a ball game in which he took part is the difference between doing a thing mechanically as a task and doing something in which one is intensely interested.

Georgia congressman who complains that he cannot live on his salary appears to overlook one alternative, since he pleads for an increase.

President Harding paid his income tax before starting on his Florida trip. It proves that he has means, or he wouldn't be able to go to Florida afterward.

When more men sees that nearly every woman is dressed differently he wonders what constitutes style.

It sometimes happens that the man who is sure he is right and goes ahead should have taken the left.

Henry Ford says he hopes to see the day when every one of his employes can own a car and afford it. Henry knows that they are a lot of chaps owning 'em who can't afford 'em.

The good looker is a good finder.

Ears are said to be coming back. It seems to be assumed that they still exist.

Most men are willing to get the double cross when it comes in the form of a twenty.

Greatest problem just now is to distinguish between sleeping sickness and spring fever.

EVERETT TRUE BY CONDO

New York-Day-By-Day

BY A. C. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 9.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Up at the cock's crow and read some observations by Francis Hackett from Europe. Very fine, and then to buy some pajamas, a few grave but mostly gay.

To R. Long's for breakfast and Peter B. Kyne, the pamphleteer, there, having come from California to fashion a novel and all in a noble mood and much stimulating talk.

Walked through the town and meeting Copeland Townsend, the hotel man, did a turn in Central Park with him and thence to see Lee Kugel who recently fell unconscious for nineteen days but is now on the mend.

Dined with my wife, very pretty in a new yellow frock, and later to Delmonico's to the party E. Roos gave for Alex. Moore, newly appointed by Lord Harding to the Spanish Ambassadorship. So home very late and to bed.

The most fastidious man in all New York was found snuffing up Madison Avenue. He was smoking a big cigar and carried with him an ash tray into which he flipped ashes after occasional puffs.

Frederick K. Detwiller, who has been a profound student of architecture and law, has again shown his versatility by exhibiting his paintings in a gallery on Fifth Avenue. It is rarely the artist rises above scholasticism and the critics say Mr. Detwiller's offerings place him in the foremost ranks of American painters. I saw Count Boni and the former Anna Gould among the visitors. They are said to be devoted patrons of the galleries and rarely attend social gatherings of late.

It seems to me people who enjoy art and opera have a slight edge on those who do not. They have an added dignity and give out an intangible aura of confidence. I have a lovely friend who is always finding excuses for not attending the opera with his wife. He ran low on his supply of excuses recently and, when she wanted him to hear "Gottterdammerung," he refused on the ground the title sounded "too much like common cussing."

Speaking of Count Boni, he is far from the fashionable dandy of the Paris Boulevard. I had pictured him as the mercurial tempered swashbuckler with Inverness cape.

high silk hat and ready at any time to thrust the rapier or quaff the albatross drip. Instead, one sees a rather doddering old man with a pronounced squint. Sometimes he cups his ear to catch conversation. However, his wit is edged with white and that never fails to give a fleeting touch of youth to age.

When old age has its hanging, groggily, to the ropes—(Voice)—Whadda y' mean when?—I am going to employ a device which strikes me as unfeeling in giving a touch of youth to the aged. That is the buttonhole bouquet. Chauncey M. Depew appears 20 years younger with a boutonniere.

Also I have still one more scheme. (Another voice: Is there no limit to this man's cleverness?) That is to keep up with the slang of the day. I know an actor past 70. He gives voice to all the Broadway patter and one always thinks of him as being middle-aged.

A Lady of Fashion

April's a lady—a lady of fashion—Of green velvet moss over her beautiful shoes.

Her gown is all flowered with pink apple blossoms.

Her sash is a rainbow of many bright hues.

Her earrings are long crystal drops of the showers.

Her corsage bouquet is of violets blue.

Her hat is adorned with a plume of the lilac.

Her brooch is a diamond of glittering dew.

The pearls on her neck are of pure valley lilies.

Strung on an emerald thread in the shade.

Her bracelets are rubies, the gifts of the maples.

Of ferns from the brookside her mantle is made.

Her cheeks have been powdered with white of the snowdrop.

Her lips painted red with the tulip's bold passion.

She has eyes like the pansies and claffodil tresses.

For April behold! is a lady of fashion.

Teasing, Indeed! Sweet Young Thing (in parlor)—Mamma! Mamma! Come here and make Harold quit teasing me!

Mamma (from stairway landing)—What is he doing, dear?

"He's sitting at the other end of the sofa."—Judge.

"He has no ambition at all."

"No, he never tries to pass another car on a hill."

Duck—Any news of your brother? Turkey—Yes, poor thing, he's in for a good roasting.

"Land o' the livin'!" ejaculated Mrs. Johnson in the midst of her reading. "It says here in the paper that a bunch of scientific professors are going to Africa to hunt for humans with tails!"

"Uh-huh!" nonchalantly replied Gap Johnson of Rumors Ridge. "What do they aim to do when they find 'em—the tin cans to 'em?"—Kansas City Star.

Prisoner—Well, yer honor, I was in a bloomin' fix. Ier see, his prescription read "a spoonful every hour," an' I had no timepiece.—Boston Transcript.

It is wonderful what good reason men have for not serving on juries, but a bright judge is generally equal to the occasion.

In one court an Italian asked to be excused from jury duty.

"Why?" asked the judge.

"Well, your honor, I don't understand good English."

"Oh, you will do," replied the judge. "You won't hear much good English here, anyway."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Some years ago Longfellow, the poet, and Fields, the publisher, were on a walking tour, when, to their surprise, an angry bull stood in the pathway, evidently intending to demolish them both.

"I think," said Fields, "that it will be prudent to give this reviewer a wide margin."

"So you're married at last, eh? Allow me to congratulate you, for I hear you have an accomplished wife."

"I have, indeed," was the reply.

"My wife is a woman perfectly at home in literature; at home in science—in short, at home in everything except—"

"Except what?"

"Except a home"—Boston Evening Transcript.

Women visitors were going thru a penitentiary under the escort of the warden. They came to a room where three women were sewing.

PREPARATION

By Berton Braley

SHE'S sewing on tiny garments, The littlest and softest things: And there is a light in my true love's eyes

And I watch her sewing, and in my heart Is the pride of a dozen kings.

SHE'S sewing little garments And as she sews she dreams, Filled with a vision of joy and hope, Thrilled with her plans and schemes

And the light that was never on sea or land, O'er her features gleams.

SHE'S sewing little garments And the day of her trial is near, Yet all her mood is the mood of joy And never a hint of fear:

Oh, wife, may it all go well with you, My dear, my dear, my dear! (Copyright, 1923, NEA Service, Inc.)
